best friends animal society conference 2024: Rethinking Rescue Carol Mithers, 2024-08-20 NOW WITH A NEW AFTERWORD ABOUT THE IMPACT OF THE PALISADES FIRE ON ANIMAL RESCUES IN LOS ANGELES Rethinking Rescue boldly confronts two of the biggest challenges of our time—poverty and homelessness—in asking the question: Who deserves the love of a pet? In Los Angeles's most underserved communities, Lori Weise is known as the Dog Lady, the woman who's spent decades caring for people in poverty and the animals that love them. Long before anyone else, Weise grasped that animal and human suffering are inextricably connected and created a new rescue narrative: an enduring safety net empowering pet owners and providing resources to reduce the number of pets coming into shelters. Rethinking Rescue: Dog Lady and the Story of America's Forgotten People and Pets unites the causes of animal welfare and social justice, moving between Weise's story and that of the larger U.S. rescue movement. Through captivating storytelling and investigative reporting, Carol Mithers examines the consequences of bias within this overwhelmingly white movement, where an overemphasis on placing animals in affluent homes disregards pet owners in poverty. Weise's innovative and ultimately triumphant efforts revealed a better way. As cities across the country witness some of the worst housing crises in history, and as the population of unhoused people and pets continues to skyrocket, Rethinking Rescue offers a story of compassion and hope.

best friends animal society conference 2024: Mici da sfatare Rolla Cristiana, 2024-12-02 Ogni giorno i nostri gatti, al meglio delle loro possibilità e ben consapevoli dei nostri limiti, tentano in ogni modo di mettersi in comunicazione con noi. Noi però, nonostante le migliori intenzioni, non sempre riusciamo a capire cosa vogliano dirci e, come se non bastasse, puntualmente fraintendiamo gran parte degli sforzi che fanno nei nostri confronti. In questo libro Cristiana Rolla, attraverso la contestazione dei principali luoghi comuni sul gatto, ci mostrerà con sagacia e ironia in che modo quest'ultimo abbia operato tutta una serie di aggiustamenti al proprio repertorio comportamentale, e non solo, pur di favorire la propria convivenza con la nostra specie. Alla fine della lettura sarà chiaro quanto dietro a una facciata sovraccarica di pregiudizi risieda invece una creatura estremamente complessa e delicata, bisognosa di instaurare rapporti e consolidare relazioni, tutt'altro che ingrata, e soprattutto in grado, se compresa, di darci molto più di quanto pensiamo e probabilmente anche più di quanto, nella nostra inconsapevole presunzione, riceva da parte nostra.

best friends animal society conference 2024: Dogopolis Chris Pearson, 2024-05-31 Dogopolis presents a surprising source for urban innovation in the history of three major cities: human-canine relationships. Stroll through any American or European city today and you probably won't get far before seeing a dog being taken for a walk. It's expected that these domesticated animals can easily navigate sidewalks, streets, and other foundational elements of our built environment. But what if our cities were actually shaped in response to dogs more than we ever realized? Chris Pearson's Dogopolis boldly and convincingly asserts that human-canine relations were a crucial factor in the formation of modern urban living. Focusing on New York, London, and Paris from the early nineteenth century into the 1930s, Pearson shows that human reactions to dogs significantly remolded them and other contemporary western cities. It's an unalterable fact that dogs—often filthy, bellicose, and sometimes off-putting—run away, spread rabies, defecate, and breed wherever they like, so as dogs became a more and more common in nineteenth-century middle-class life, cities had to respond to people's fear of them and revulsion at their least desirable traits. The gradual integration of dogs into city life centered on disgust at dirt, fear of crime and vagrancy, and the promotion of humanitarian sentiments. On the other hand, dogs are some people's most beloved animal companions, and human compassion and affection for pets and strays were equally powerful forces in shaping urban modernity. Dogopolis details the complex interrelations among emotions, sentiment, and the ways we manifest our feelings toward what we love—showing that together they can actually reshape society.
