Understanding the Major Clash Compromise in iCivics

The Major Clash Compromise lesson in iCivics focuses on the pivotal negotiations during the Constitutional Convention of 1787. These compromises were necessary to resolve conflicts between states with differing interests, ensuring the formation of a unified government. The lesson highlights compromises such as the Great Compromise, which balanced representation between large and small states, and the Three-Fifths Compromise, which addressed the counting of enslaved individuals for legislative representation and taxation purposes.

The Historical Context of the Major Clash

During the Constitutional Convention, delegates from various states faced significant disagreements on the structure and powers of the new government. The conflict primarily involved the representation in Congress, with larger states favoring proportional representation and smaller states demanding equal representation. The Major Clash Compromise was essential to reconcile these differences and establish a bicameral legislature.

Key Compromises Explored in the Lesson

The iCivics Major Clash Compromise lesson examines several critical agreements, including:

- The Great Compromise: Created a two-house legislature with the House of Representatives based on population and the Senate providing equal representation for each state.
- The Three-Fifths Compromise: Determined that three-fifths of the enslaved population would be counted for representation and taxation.
- Commerce and Slave Trade Compromise: Allowed Congress to regulate commerce but prohibited banning the slave trade for 20 years.
