Overview of McPherson Health and Rehab

McPherson Health and Rehab is a specialized healthcare institution committed to delivering exceptional rehabilitation and health services. Located in a community-focused environment, the center caters to individuals requiring post-acute care, long-term care, and specialized rehabilitation therapies. The organization is recognized for its evidence-based practices and adherence to industry standards, ensuring patients receive the most effective and up-to-date treatments. McPherson Health and Rehab strives to create a safe and supportive atmosphere where patients can recover and regain independence under the supervision of skilled professionals.

Comprehensive Rehabilitation Services

At the core of McPherson Health and Rehab's offerings is a wide range of rehabilitation services designed to address diverse patient needs. These services include physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, and specialized programs to promote recovery from various conditions such as stroke, orthopedic surgeries, and neurological disorders.

Physical Therapy

Physical therapy at McPherson Health and Rehab focuses on restoring mobility, strength, and functional performance. Licensed physical therapists design individualized treatment plans that incorporate exercises, manual therapy, and modalities such as electrical stimulation and ultrasound to accelerate healing and reduce pain.

Occupational Therapy

Occupational therapy aims to help patients regain the ability to perform daily activities independently. Therapists work with patients on fine motor skills, coordination, and adaptive strategies, facilitating a smoother transition back to home and work environments.

Speech Therapy

Speech and language pathologists provide assessment and intervention for communication disorders and swallowing difficulties. This service is essential for patients recovering from strokes or traumatic brain injuries, ensuring improved quality of life and safety.

Patient-Centered Care Approach

McPherson Health and Rehab prioritizes patient-centered care, tailoring treatment plans to meet individual goals, preferences, and medical conditions. The care team involves patients and their families in decision-making processes, fostering collaboration and transparency. This approach enhances patient satisfaction and motivation, which are crucial for successful rehabilitation outcomes.

- Customized care plans based on thorough assessments
- Interdisciplinary team collaboration
- Regular progress evaluations and adjustments
- Emphasis on patient education and empowerment

Skilled Nursing and Medical Support

Beyond rehabilitation therapies, McPherson Health and Rehab offers comprehensive skilled nursing care. This includes medication management, wound care, pain control, and monitoring of chronic conditions. The medical staff comprises experienced nurses and physicians who ensure continuous medical supervision and timely interventions.

Medication Management

Effective medication management is critical in rehabilitation settings. The nursing team at McPherson Health and Rehab carefully administers medications, monitors side effects, and educates patients about their prescriptions to promote safety and adherence.

Wound Care Services

Specialized wound care is provided for patients with pressure ulcers, surgical wounds, or other complex skin conditions. The facility employs advanced techniques and dressings to promote healing and prevent infections.

Therapeutic Programs and Techniques

McPherson Health and Rehab incorporates a variety of therapeutic modalities and innovative techniques to enhance patient recovery. The use of state-of-the-art equipment and evidence-based practices ensures effective and efficient rehabilitation processes.

mcpherson health and rehab: Enhancing Healthcare and Rehabilitation Christopher M. Hayre, Dave J. Muller, 2019-03-29 Summary Description This book is primarily a celebration of the qualitative work undertaken internationally by a number of experienced researchers. It also focuses on developing the use of qualitative research for health and rehabilitative practitioners by recognizing its value methodologically and empirically. We find that the very nature of qualitative research offers an array of opportunities for researchers in being able to understand the social world around us. Further, through experience and discussion, this book identifies the multifaceted use of qualitative methods in the healthcare and rehabilitative setting. This book touches on the role of the researcher, the participants involved, and the research environment. In short, we see how these three central elements can affect the nature of qualitative work in attempts to offer originality. This text speaks to a number of audiences. Students who are writing undergraduate dissertations and research proposals, they may find the myriad of examples stimulating and may support the rationale for methodological decisions in their own work. For academics, practitioners, and prospective qualitative researchers this book also aims to demonstrate an array of opportunism in the field of qualitative research and how they may resonate with arguments proffered. It is anticipated that readers will find this collection of qualitative examples not only useful for informing their own research, but we also hope to enlighten new discussions and arguments regarding both methodological and empirical use of qualitative work internationally. Features Encompasses the importance of qualitative research and how it can be used to facilitate healthcare and rehabilitation across a wide range of health conditions. Evaluates empirical data whilst critically applying it to contemporary practices. Provides readers with an overview with future directions and influence policy makers in order to develop practice. Focuses on an array of health conditions that can affect groups of the population, coincided with life issues and the care and family support received. Offers innovative methodological insights for prospective researchers in order to add to the existing evidence base.

mcperson health and rehab: Pastor's Mental Health Harris Kakoulides , As a former pastor with 12 years of experience, I feel uniquely qualified to speak on the pressing issue of pastors' mental health. While I never led a mega church, my time shepherding a small congregation was filled with profound challenges that weighed heavily on my mental and emotional well-being. I witnessed tragedies that could leave a lasting impact on anyone's psyche, including the horrifying incident of a man being set on fire by a group of drug dealers. In the Kensington area of Philadelphia, reaching out to law enforcement during the COVID pandemic often felt like calling a disconnected number—either no one answered, or there were excuses for why help couldn't arrive.

mcperson health and rehab: Physical Management in Neurological Rehabilitation

Maria Stokes, 2004 Building upon the success of the first edition of this popular book, the new edition of Physical Management in Neurological Rehabilitation has been completely up-dated and revised to reflect changes in practice today. The authors consider the theoretical basis and scientific evidence of effective treatment, taking a multidisciplinary problem-solving approach to patient management, which involves patients and carers in goal setting and decision making. Book jacket.

mcperson health and rehab: Interprofessional Rehabilitation Sarah G. Dean, Richard J. Siegert, William J. Taylor, 2012-07-16 Interprofessional Rehabilitation: a Person-Centred Approach is a concise and readable introduction to the principles and practice of a person-centred interprofessional approach to rehabilitation, based upon a firm scientific evidence base. Written by a multi-contributor team of specialists in physiotherapy, occupational therapy, nursing, psychology and rehabilitation medicine, this text draws together common themes that cut across the different professional groups and the spectrum of health conditions requiring rehabilitation, and sets out a model of practice that is tailored to the specific needs of the client. Showing interprofessionalism at work in a range of clinical contexts, the book argues that effective rehabilitation is best conducted by well-integrated teams of specialists working in an interdisciplinary way, with the client or patient actively involved in all stages of the process. This book will be essential reading for students preparing for practice in an increasingly interprofessional environment, and will be of interest to any health care practitioner keen to understand how an integrated approach to rehabilitation can benefit their clients.

mcperson health and rehab: The Routledge International Handbook of Disability and Global Health Lieketseng Ned, Minerva Rivas Velarde, Satendra Singh, Leslie Swartz, Karen Soldatić, 2024-05-31 This handbook will raise awareness about the importance of health and well-being of people with disabilities in the context of the global development agenda: Leaving No-one Behind. There has been a growing discussion on how people with disabilities should be included in the global health landscape. An estimated one billion people have some form of disability, 80% of whom live in low- and middle-income settings. People with disabilities are more likely to be poor, with restricted access to health and social services, education, rehabilitation and employment. Despite this, people with disabilities are often overlooked in global health and development efforts. Furthermore, the COVID-19 pandemic has shown that unless systematically planned for and included in policies and programmes, people with disabilities remain at an increased risk of being adversely affected in times of humanitarian crisis and emergency disasters. Divided into eight sections: Disability and Health Frameworks Health Justice, Rights and Bioethics Gendering Disability Health Disability and Global Mental Health Disability and Access to Healthcare, Including Workforce Development Crises and Health Technology and Digital Health Disability, Ageing and Dementia Care This handbook covers the full range of topics pertaining to disability and global health including inclusive health; access to rehabilitation; global mental health and disability; medical training and disability; community based inclusive development for improving health and rehabilitation; maternal health and sexual reproduction; preventive care and health promotion for people with disabilities; health, disability and indigenous knowledges; bioethics and human rights; data protection; and health in the global south. It will be of interest to all scholars, students and professionals working in the fields of disability studies, health studies, nursing, medicine, allied health, development studies and sociology.

mcperson health and rehab: Game-playing for active ageing and healthy lifestyles Ana Isabel Veloso, Liliana Vale Costa, 2022-09-01 Given the increase in the ageing population and the evolution of the Human-Computer Interaction field to a much more humanistic approach, debate is ongoing about designing technology-enabled products for active ageing and healthy lifestyles. Indeed, the mainstream game industry has been challenged with the emergence of an older target group, the advancements in gamification and the proliferation of SMART devices. Previous experience in the field has revealed that for many older adult gamers, games had a therapeutic effect through them being both cognitively challenged and rewarded. However it has also revealed that the gaming industry was not fulfilling their other motivations and accessibility needs. Furthermore, research to date has focused on the physical and cognitive effects of video games in the aging process. Up to now, the use of other active ageing dimensions that go beyond the health domains (i.e. sense of security, and participation in society) in games addressed to this target group remain unexplored. This book differs from current books on the market by focusing on games and the main implications to design for active ageing in terms of the market perspective, the information and communication society, behavioral design, mobility, urban and city planning, accessibility and assessment.
